“ Just got the word of Elwood's passing. I remember I was home on leave from the service and I was in the West Hills park on South Genesee St with some of the guys doing what we always did. I saw Elwood coming across the street to the park, all of a sudden Elwood started screaming, jumping up and down, rolling on the ground, and hitting the sides of his pants. We all started laughing because of the way he was acting like he was doing a dance. When we realized something was wrong we ran to where he was. He started screaming there's something in his pants biting him. When we helped him lifted up his pants leg a yellow jacket flew out and it was mad. See since it was wasp it could extract its stinger and strike something multiple times while a honey bee can only sting once because it loses their stinger after one strike. Afterwards we had a big laugh intimating the way he looked trying tom remove that wasp from his pant leg. RIP Elwood.

“ To the Family
I would like to send my sincere condolences to the family. Growing up in West Hills we always shared a bond each other . After we grew up got married and separated from reach other we lost connections. I can say we never forget memories. May God strengthen the family at this time and give you the comfort as you hold on to your family bond and love for one another,
Peace and Blessings
