“ Time can not change the fact that Ann is gone...however I didnt know of her passing until after the fact. The last time we spoke was last year and we talked about our illnesses and how God kept us. Ann and I used to run into one another in the store and talk forever...she really was a beautiful soul. May her memory live on and may she rest peacefully in the arms of our Father. My sincerest condolences to her children and her family.

“ I have known Ann but for a short while by phone. However, I wish we had known each other better. Still, it was time enough time for her to embed her warm and loving spirit in my soul my soul. i loved to make her laugh. She is now on the road with no exits. it terminates in the arms of God. No more pain, no more medical treatments, or suffering.. Presently Ann is experiencing " absolute" freedom from all that's bad.

To Treva, Daryl and Willie : It'll be a while before you get over the aches but with time, you'll return to normalcy. Don't expect to forget it all. it'll never happen. Too, I don't think you would want to forget a lifetime of motherly or sisterly love. From here, We'll let God take over. Willie, Treva and Daryl take good care of yourselves and look to each other when you need a little help with your emotional suffering.. I don't know what I can do to help but if ou should need a helping hand, please give me a try. presently, I grieve for a kind woman i' have never met. However, I pray that in "my" future world, I'll hear that laugh again

“ On behalf of Elise Seymore Roberts and siblings, we extend our deepest condolences to the McMillan Family. We affectionally called her Annie Mae. After returning to Savannah for visits, "Elise", her life-long friend and high school classmate adapted to calling her Ann. She was yet affectionally called Annie Mae by our family. The McMillan family and the Seymore's connected as family and shared many happy memories together. Ann will be greatly missed!

Willie and family, our prayers are with you now and in the days ahead. The loved we shared over the years will forever be embedded in our hearts! "Carolyn"

*With Love and Prayers,
The Seymore Family of Savannah, Georgia*

“ My condolences to the family. Ann and I go way back. I met her in the 70's. We worked to together at SNET and she was a devoted person. Ann was like a sister to me, always giving me encouraging words. We talked for hours and reminiscing way back. I am going to missed those talks and laughter. She will be greatly missed. I am still shedding tears. RIP Ann. Your Friend, Sylvia P. Hylton-West
