“ I miss you Auntie Felicia, things haven't been the same without you physically here. But I know you're watching over my mom and our family spiritually. I wish you were here, so my Mom could get the happiness she truly deserves back. But don't worry one day i'ma make sure she gets something close to that even though not many things could be as good as her friendship with you. And one day when I get enough to buy a car, I'ma travel down and go see Pumpkin. I miss her as well you know she's my sibling as well lol. I wish I could see her sooner. There's so much I wish we could have done. Although I may not mention your name 24/7 I do miss you very very much. And I really wish you could bless my mom with something that reminds her of you. I saw a yellow butterfly today and it symbolizes that someone who has passed is reminding you that they are near and to stay positive. I know I've said this a few times already but please bless my mom with her joy back please!! she's deserves it. and bless Pumpkin as well. We love you and miss you very much!! Stay safe.
Love, Peanut.
