“ Bree im gonna miss your smiling face. So much. Just seeing you with that big smile qyour face i knew that you was bout to make me day. I wish i got to see you more often. But the days i did see you and was around you i will always cherish. You had a bright future ahead of you. And you knew where you was going. But your dreams been put on hold. Because you was called home. Dont worry someone will make your dreams come alive for you. Love you Bree Ryder. Watch over everyone and help us reach our dreams and goals. R.I.P BREE.

“ I really don't know what to say besides that your my cousin who I'll love and I'll miss forever . You'll always be in our hearts . My greatest memory was when we were on Shelton Ave and my other cousins and i were walking to Bassett park and you stood in front of me and stopped me to say " you not walking past me without saying anything big head " then gave me the biggest hug then our Thompson street days ( too many memories to write ) that'll be a book but yes Your warm smile , laugh and memories will forever be remembered in my heart and others #LongLiveBree <3 love you cous
