“ My heart was so broken when I heard about the passing of this young. We were neighbors for several years and I watched him grow from a little boy to a young man as he and his brothers were friends with my sons.

After we left the area, I would, periodically, ask my son about them and he would tell me what everyone was doing. I remember him mentioning that Jamal had moved but not that he had become a police officer.

These young men were very respectful and always smiling. I never imagined this would be the last update I would get of him.

My heart goes out to his family. To his mom, I am so sorry. Just remember that as he was covered under the blood as he lived, he is now under the umbrella.

To his fiance and children, hold tightly to the memories you made together. To his brothers and sisters, the memories and laughter and good times you shared will bring you much comfort in the years to come.

To the remainder of the family, to my sons, and all those connected to him, honor him by not forgetting his loved ones. Stay in touch.

We LOVE you Jamal.
