“ She may not have been my grandmother, but she was the closest thing I'd ever gotten to a grandmother. My heart is aching and my soul is crying out in ways I'd forgotten they even could. She was one of the realest people I'd ever come across, and even when she wasn't in the best of moods, she'd always make an effort to make you really feel special. This isn't goodbye forever, this is just "I'll be seeing you". She may not have been my blood, but she and her family have always come close enough to it. I love you Ms. Mary.
