

Sherman Brown

May 28, 1945 - April 12, 2026

Sherman Brown Sr. was born on May 28, 1945, in Anderson, South Carolina, to the late Raymond and Pearlee Donaldson Brown. He was raised in a close-knit community where he learned early on the values of hard work, faith, and family-principles that would guide him throughout his life. Sherman attended Anderson County Public Schools and graduated from Riverside High School, laying the foundation for a future defined by dedication and perseverance.

In 1964, Sherman made the life-changing move to New Haven, Connecticut, a place he would proudly call home for the rest of his life. It was there that he built not only a career, but a legacy. Sherman devoted a combined 45 years of service to Atlantic Wire and the New Haven Register, earning the respect of colleagues and friends alike. His leadership extended beyond the workplace as he served as President of Teamsters Local 443, where he advocated for others with fairness, strength, and an unwavering sense of responsibility.

While Sherman worked hard, he loved even harder. He was a devoted father, grandfather, and great-grandfather whose greatest joy came from being surrounded by his family.

Whether he was sharing wisdom, telling stories from "back in the day," or slipping in one of his classic jokes, Sherman had a way of bringing people together. He was well known for his sense of humor-quick with a punchline, or a story that grew just a little more each time it was told. If you spent time with Sherman, chances are you left smiling.
