“ Oh Terrence, oh Terrence!

I vividly recall you being sharply dressed on that sunny day of September in 2020. You embraced me and calmly said, "You're going to be ok, I'm always here if you need someone to talk to." And in looking back, I can also remember how comforting those spoken words of yours were to me on a day, that was my darkest day by far.

Upon hearing of your sudden departure from planet Earth, and in realizing that I'm left void of your listening ears, I cannot help but to think of the following narrative from the writer Edgar A. Guest: "I'll lend you for a little time, a child of mine, He said. For you to LOVE while he lives, and mourn for when he is dead. But will you, till I call him back, take CARE of him for Me [God]?"

Undoubtedly, barber T, I did ponder that question, but I chose to forego an answer- due to my awareness of this phrase 'God ALWAYS knows what's best'.

Ultimately, since you left me down here on the course of fulfilling my temporary stay, until I join you, I'll just keep picturing you on your drums- playing joyous music, while The Heavenly Choir sings.

*Now to Janice, the children and the rest of the family, please accept my sincere sympathy. Remain strong and know that you'll have Terrence's lovely memories, as solace for your grief. So keep smiling because Terrence always did!
God bless.*

Heavy heartedly submitted -with lots of love.
