

Victor Bonsu-Premph

December 20, 1968 - October 14, 2017

I was given the gift of life on December 20th, 1968, but God decided to call me home on October 14th, 2017. The years I spent here on earth, taught me to live life on my own terms. I lived, I loved, I cried, I was happy, I was sad, but I lived. My name is Victor Bonsu-Prempeh, to some I was called “Brother”. I was born to Josephine Garban and the late Nana Bonsu-Prempeh in Kumasi, Ghana. In 1997 my two siblings and I relocated here from Ghana to New York to pursue the American Dream. Life was kind, and sometimes cruel but I did my best to become my best self, not just for me but for anyone who came into my life. Oh, how I wish I could turn back time. To say I love you to my son, and my daughters. To tell my mother I am sorry for the many times I brought tears to her eyes. To say to my sister, don’t be afraid to be you, and to my brother go chase your dreams. But this I know, that one day I’ll get to see your faces, of family and of friends. Victor enjoyed playing golf with his friends, organizing parties with his partner Gee and cruising in his Jaguar. He is survived by his mother Josephine Garban of Leesburg, VA, a son, Kwabena (Ebo) Bonsu-Prempeh, Ghana. 2 daughters, Nana Adwoa Bonsu-Prempeh, Ghana and Majesty Bonsu-Prempeh, Connecticut. A brother Eric Agyeman-Duah and a sister Fynn Coleman.
